

Overall, I really like the look of this mockup. I think you did a great job with the layout – specifically, I like the way that the album covers look. It definitely looks like a poster, which is the vibe I was going for. I also like that you chose orange – it makes the website pop!

Under the discography section, I wonder if you could link the album covers to a song on Spotify. I think this would add a nice interactive element to the website. Otherwise, this section is great!

One of my edits would be about the general styling of the page – two of my recommendations would be to change the font and to add more pictures/graphics. I think the font should be a bit “funkier,” at least in the title. I also think more visuals would be good, just because the band is known for their graphics. This would lend a bit more movement to the website.

All in all, great work!
